PEDIATRIC FEEDING -The Big Picture 1 Sensory, Motor and Behavioral Issues with Feeding Disorders

Oral Motor Exercises! Sensory Stimulation! E-Stim! Behavioral Programming! How does it all fit together? How do OTs, SLPs, and PTs work together in a successful feeding program? How do you know when to use the different techniques out there? Should we combine approaches? How do you know where to start, when to "push", and when to stop? Come learn the relationship between a child's gross motor abilities and his feeding skills. Learn the three primary components of feeding disorders, Sensory/Motor/Behavioral and how to address them in a comprehensive treatment program. In this introductory course, for SLP/SLPAs, PT/PTAs and OT/COTAs you will learn how to work together to evaluate and choose different techniques and modalities in light of the specific needs of the child and the knowledge-base, roles, and scope of each discipline. Stop trying to use someone else's "cookbook" and develop a unique program appropriate for each client.

CEUs: 0.8 (8.0 hours) OT/COTAs, PT/PTAs, SLP/SLPAs

- Oral Motor/Feeding Development
- Importance of Gross Motor Development
- Areas of Responsibility and Scope for SLPs, PTs and OTs
- Three basic components of Feeding Disorders (Sensory, Motor, Behavioral)

PEDIATRIC FEEDING -The Big Picture 2 Medical and Family Dynamic Issues with Feeding Disorders

In "Pediatric Feeding – The Big Picture I", we learned about the Motor, Sensory, and Behavioral causes of pediatric feeding disorders. In this intermediate level, follow-up course, using case studies and group discussion, OTs, PTs, SLPs and Dysphagia Professionals will delve into two more causes: Medical Problems and glitches in the Family Dynamics. Learn what you can and cannot do to help a child with severe gastrointestinal or cardiopulmonary problems eat. How does Prematurity contribute to feeding problems? Explore the effects of different medications on swallowing and why you should always know what meds your client is on. Discover some of the rarely explored effects on the family having a child with a feeding disorder and walk away with concrete ways to support and empower your families to help their child and themselves.
